In other cases the blood is quickly filled with this poisonous virus and the swollen glands, mucus patches in the mouth, sores on scalp, ulcers on tongue, sore throat, eruptions on skin, copper colored splotches, and falling hair and eyebrown book into dubt, as these are all unmistakable signs of Contagious Blood Poison.

Doctors still prescribe mercury and potash as the only cure for Blood Poison. These poisonous minerals never yet made a complete and permanent cure of Contagious Blood Poison. They drive the disease back into the system, cover it up for a while, but it breaks out again in worse form. These powerful minerals produce mercurial rheunatism and the most offensive sores and ulcers, causing the joints to stiffen and finger nails to drop off. Mercury and S. S. S. acts in an entirely different manner, being a purely vegetable remedy; it forces the poison out of the system, and instead of tearing down, builds up and invigorates the general health. S. S. S. is the only antidote for this specific virus, and therefore the only cure for Contagious Blood Poison. No matter in what stage or how hopeless the case may appear, even though pronounced incurable by the doctors, S. S. S. can be relied upon to make a rapid, permanent cure. S. S. S. These poison out of the system, and the system and the system, and the system and the system and the system and the system, and the system and though pronounced incurable by the doctors, S. S. Can be relied upon to make a rapid, permanent cure. S. S. S. is not a new, untried remedy; an experience of nearly fifty years has proven it a sure and unfailing cure for this disease. It is the only purely vegetable blood medicine known.

Mr. H. L. Myers, 100 Mulberry R., Newark, N. J., says: "I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first but appeared sill over my body. These soon broke out into sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Sefore I became convinced that the doctors could do me no good I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried various patient medicines, but they did not reach the disease. When I had finished my first bottle of S. S. S. I was greatly improved, and was delighted with the result. The large, red spicoches on my chest began to grow paler and smaller, and before long disappeared entirely. I regulared my lost weight, became stronger, and my appetite improved. About Hog Raising.

[Ploughboy in Winston Republican We have on our desk, "Hog raising in the South," by Prof. S M. Tracy. The work is intended as a help to those who are raising and breeding on a somewhat extended scale, but is well worth a careful study to those who raise only the home supply. One encouraging feature we note, is during the last ten years there has been a rapid increase in the number of hogs raised in the South. It is claimed that ten years ago 90 per cent. of the pork consumed in the Gulf States came from the great packing houses in the north west. The Berkshire and Foland-Chi-na seems to be the favorite breeds among Southern farmers. A great deal is said about food and feeding, which is worth little to the man who buys three or four pigs, places them in a close pen and feeds teem mostly on the refuse from the kitchen and farm. One important feature is from an extended experiment by Prof. Henry of Wisconsin which shows conclusively that pigs weighing from 200 to 250 pounds are much the cheapest meat. Of course it is understood that the pig of course it is understood that the pig must reach this weight at from six to eight months old. After he reaches 260 pourds, about one-fourth (24 per cent) more food was required to pro-duce 100 pounds of gain. We read last year a statement by a Missouri farmer covering several years experience which proved clearly, that a hog scon "eat his head off" siter reaching one year old. We have several times kept accurate records of the cost of home grown meat and found that close management is required to keep the cost of production below the value of the product. But by all means raise your own meat and do so at the least possible cost First arrange to save every particls of man-re, liqu d and solid, and this will amply pay for the time and trouble of feeding, besides preventing it from soaking into the ear h and sometimes causing sickness and death by contaminating drinking water. A well kept p g sty where pienty of ab-sorbents are used, and cleaned and ma-nure carried away and spread once a week is by no means offensive or danger us to health, but on the other hand a fithy pen is about the w rst thing possible to have on the premises. Next lo away with the abominable disease breeding old swill tub Remember that the meat you have to gat is made from what the pig eats, and in order for him to make good m at, he must have pure, c ean fond to eat and water to drink Scraps from the k tch-n are all right if fed while fresh, and so is fresh kitchen slop and dish water were it not for the soap they often cont in. If you use any of the powdered soaps you had better keep it awny fr m stock for whave seen several reports of its having killed them. Dirt is as essential to the well be ng of a hog (and all other stock) as water to a duck. Give them clean soil or clay every few days at least, a little every day is better. The The dieto the pig being of a condensed nature he does not when c nfined get the necessary amount of ash to make good, s rong bones which accounts for so many weak boned and lame hogs. This c n be overcome by putting a lit tle ashes in the food. we mix one part salt to two of ashes and put a little in every feed, say a teaspoonfull to thresmall pigs and increase to a spoonful to the hog as they grow in size We have never had a lame or crippled hog. If you teed strongly there is danger of overtaxing the digestive organs. A little charco I every day will a d diges-tion. There is nothing equal to mi k as a food for pigs. The next best thing is wheat bran and middlings about half and talf by measure. Remember the pig is a grass eating animal and should weeds, clover, green corn or some such In winter sweet potatoes, pump-Fins, beets, etc., or in the absence these clover or pea hay or corn fodder. Remember in feeding, growth is what you want until you begin to fatten, hence let your feed be rich in proportion and avoid corn and its product, meal, until you begin to fatten, and then granually add corn or meal until your whole grain feed consists of which point should be reached six to veks before killing. Baking Powder

The strongest, purms most efficient and wholesome of leavening agents. Not lowest in price, yet the most economical; indispensable to all who appreciate the best and most healthful food.

Our country is enjoying prosperity almost unsurpassed in its history.

For every one there is money enough to buy that to eat which is pure, sound, good, wholesome.

Why should we use cheap, impure, unhealthful articles of food? There is no economy in them; they endanger the health, they may cost life. There are reported almost daily cases of sickness caused by eating cake, puddings or biscuit made with the cheap, alum baking powders.

In all articles for food buy and use only the best. The good health of the family is of first consideration.

> Alum is used in many baking powders because it makes them cheap. It costs less than two cents a pound. Alum is a corrosive poison. Think of feeding it to chil-dren! Yet the manufacturers of well-known alum powders are actually denying that their goods contain it.
